

In today's increasingly competitive business environment, organizations need to constantly innovate both in terms of their customer offerings and business processes. Increasingly, organizations are harnessing the power of business intelligence, analytics and statistical analysis to drive their product offerings, create competitive advantage and understand the drivers behind growth in their business.

Oracle Business Intelligence Enterprise Edition, together with Oracle Database 11g and Oracle Fusion Middleware, provides the industry's leading business intelligence and corporate performance management platform. Oracle Business Intelligence Applications, built on this platform and providing pre-built interfaces to popular ERP and CRM applications, provides fast time-to-value analytics and a range of pre-defined dashboards. Either deployed standalone or as part of a wider ERP or CRM architecture, Oracle provides a complete range of business intelligence tools and technologies to help you drive analytic innovation in your organization.
